

3 ways to engage your entire class with IXL Group Jam

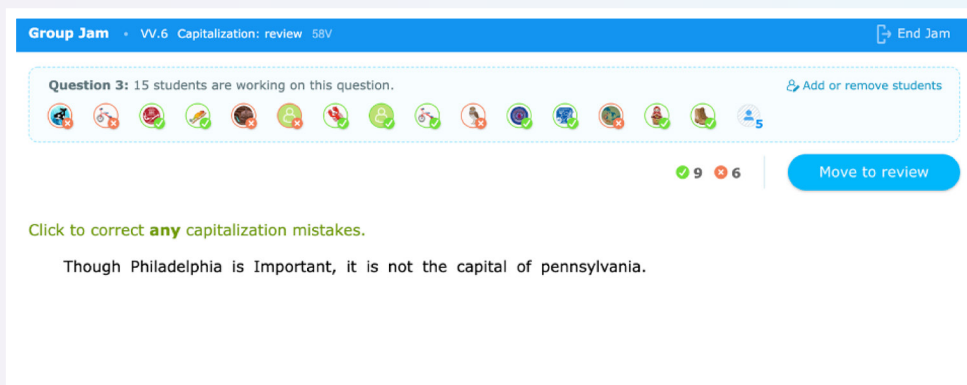

IXL Group Jam is an exciting way for classrooms to work together on an IXL skill, helping teachers gauge their entire class's understanding of the topic in real time, and make informed decisions on the best next steps to take.

1

ENHANCE WHOLE-CLASS INSTRUCTION

Posing a question to the entire class is a hallmark of classroom teaching. With Group Jam, teachers can ask the question directly on IXL!

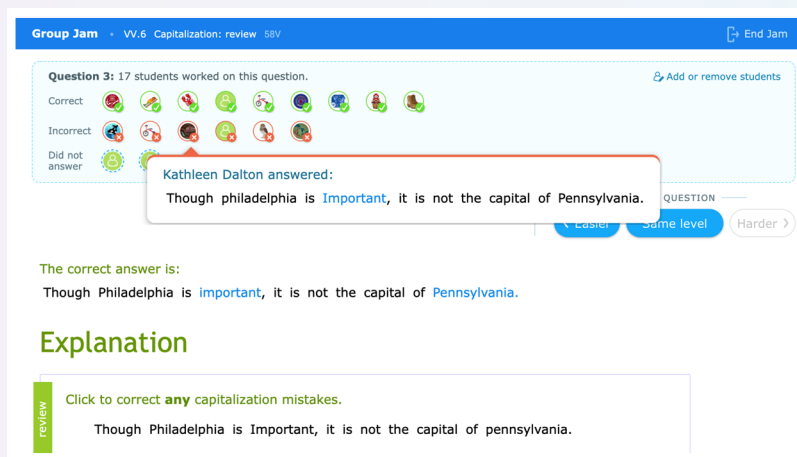

And rather than having to call on an individual student to answer, teachers are able to see each and every student's response on IXL.

2 EASILY MEASURE CLASS UNDERSTANDING

IXL Group Jam is a helpful formative assessment tool that allows teachers to evaluate their entire class's understanding of a topic and make decisions accordingly.

For example, based on how their students respond, teachers may decide to keep working on the concept as a class, break into smaller groups, or move on to an easier or harder question.

3 CREATE FUN JAM SESSIONS

Group Jam opens up new ways to engage the entire class on IXL.

For example, teachers can have the class work through a question together and share ideas along the way. Or, they can start a Lightning Jam: a fun fast-paced competition to answer questions quickly and correctly!
