Targeted learning for ELs

IXL and Rosetta Stone for Schools feature aligned curriculum that target learning for ELs.

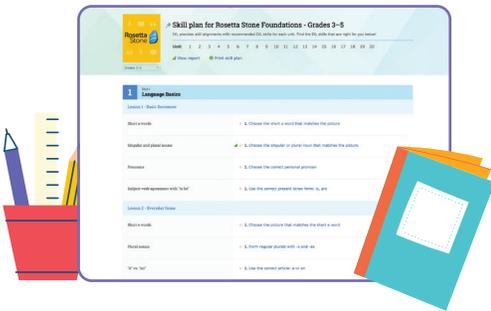

Rosetta Stone provides practice in all four domains of language—reading, writing, speaking, and listening—through immersive lessons.

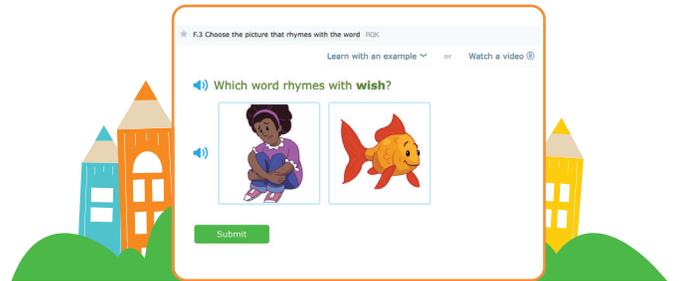

In Rosetta Stone’s comprehensive curriculum, students complete scaffolded lessons across 20 units. Each lesson builds on the vocabulary and skills of the previous lessons.

IXL skills align with Rosetta Stone units to provide additional learning in the same topics.

Educators can further build on the skills introduced in Rosetta Stone lessons with IXL activities, like sight words, rhyming, error identification, and more.

As students progress, IXL continually provides differentiated learning through the Diagnostic, which identifies each student’s learning gaps and provides personalized action plans to address them.
